The Gods Eye for Supply Chain

We make visible all the available inventory in every warehouse of manufacturers, distributors and retailers on a single screen making your purchase decisions smart, timely and effective.

Retnext empowers retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers to unleash their full potential removing all operational inefficiencies to provide an alternative shopping experience with wider range and lower prices than e-commerce rivals.

RetNext is the only unified global platform where combined stock availability of various manufacturers, distributors and retailers down the chain are listed and updated on a realtime basis. Buy, list and sell without multiple log-ins, e-suites, whatsaps, emails and embrace the one click stock management within the network.

MOTTO

Win back your customers from your e-commerce rivals by providing them with choice of products at lower costs and elevate the shopping experience.

WHO ARE YOU?

Are you a manufacturer who manufactures a product or many products?

Are you a distributor who sources these products and stores them in warehouse for further distribution?

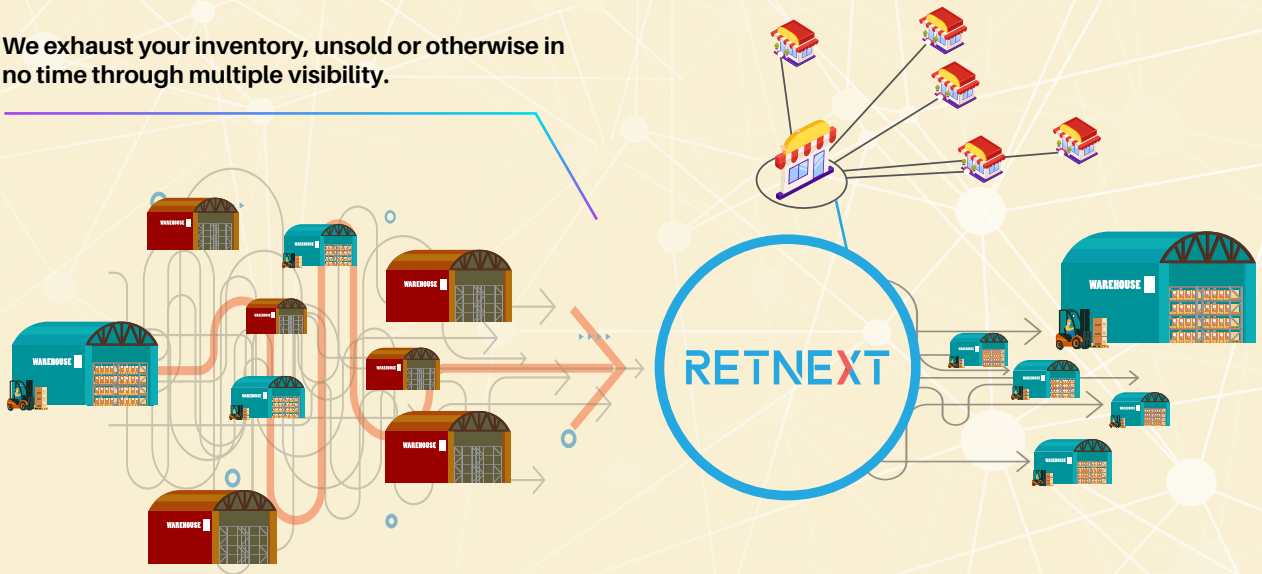

Are you a retailer who finally delivers the product to the customers?

WHAT CAN WE DO FOR YOU?

We exhaust your inventory, unsold or otherwise in no time through multiple visibility.

We reduce costs for procurement and delivery of products, so you gain more profit margin.

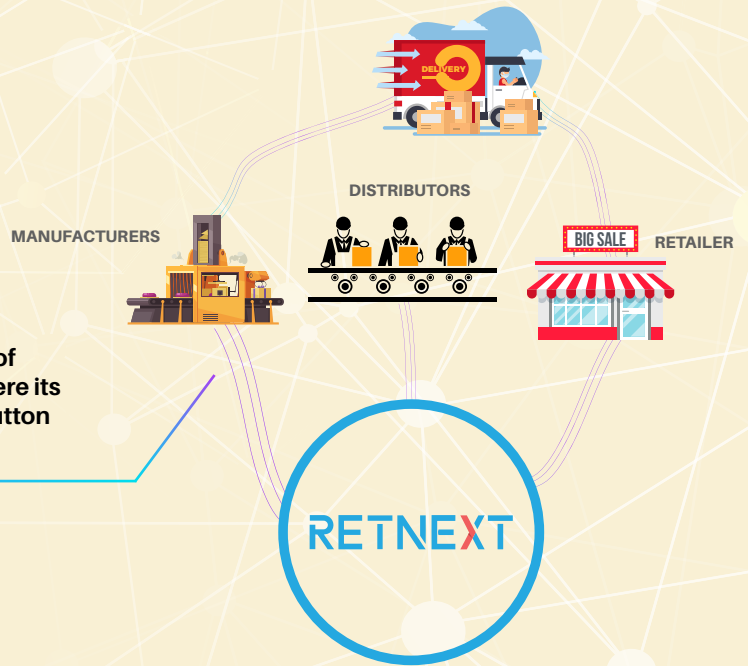

We make your distribution and procurement of the widest range of products so easy that everything happens by the click of a button and autonomously. Say bye to emails or whatsapp and or multiple login suites.

Make revenue from nothing. You can own stock inventory and sell them even without buying the stock and hence frees up your cash.

Save time and money avoiding double handling of logistics and warehouses. Get the product to where its sold straight from manufacturer with click of a button without removing anyone from the network

Want to compete with eCommerce rivals giving the widest range of products in a physical store without the added costs and hassles? We can do that. Bring your customers back.

DISTRIBUTION TODAY

80% of times retailers/distributors bring physical products to store or warehouse by starting a payment commitment (cash or creditline) from the limited options of products available through a mixed network of legacy contact methods and e-suites/platforms. This leaves out a major chunk of opportunities that lies outside the known network causing island effect. All stocks have to be procured in order to be resold along with unsold stocks puts pressure on finances.

WHAT WE DO

We are a SaaS based digital global inventory covering manufacturers to retailers and bring multifold visibility to stocks which otherwise lies hidden and the easiest way to procure it in real time without even a phone call. At the click of a button, the stock is found, exited from the seller inventory and credited to the buyer and delivered to end user locale and all payments completed. We are a combined ERP, POS and Accounting platform covering the global distributor network.

In other words, we gather all stocks into a single virtual realtime store accessible by everyone approved in the network. We are the only unified stock repository for wholesalers, retailers and manufacturers who otherwise conducts commerce on various internal platforms which often leaves out a major chunk of partners. We overcome this islanded effect of stocks lying idle across millions of retailers/distributors by interconnecting everyone on a single network.

A major feature that allows partners across the network to save cash and restrict unauthorized access is the inventory sharing permission. A manufacturer can share the inventory with its distributor who can in turn share this to regional nodes and so on down the line without actually buying the stock or entering into payment commitment. However the stock owner has the ability to choose who in network can access the inventory. Hence its both open as well as secured from misuse.

We ensure you never run out of stock and even if 1 unit is available anywhere in the world, you can bring it to your store with click of a button.

Imagine when you try to find a stock in your warehouse, you are listed with all the stocks available for that keyword from the entire country(or world) and you can bring them to your stock without a phonecall or email but at the click of a button?

Thats the future of Retail Supply Chain
